

Amy N. Grant

Amy N. Grant is a classically trained, visual artist with a studio at Acme Art Studios and the owner of Art in Bloom Gallery in historic downtown Wilmington (aibgallery.com). She is an art activist and member of the Arts Council of Wilmington and New Hanover County, the Cameron Art Museum, and the Board of Trustees of the Historic Thalian Hall Center for the Performing Arts. And now she is the newest member of the Women's Impact Network (WIN).

She appreciates the originality of the art and artists in Wilmington, NC and enjoys visiting museums, artists' studios and local galleries wherever she travels. Amy believes that art has the power to change lives and to create a more inclusive community. In addition, she works extensively with various individuals and groups to make Wilmington, NC more visible as an arts destination and believes art is a powerful economic driver.

Art in Bloom Gallery works with many non-profit organizations including the Cucalorus Festival, DREAMS (Center for Arts Education), the Jewish Film Festival, Opera Wilmington, the Center for Entrepreneurship and Innovation (CIE UNCW), and other groups involved in arts and culture.

Prior to moving to Wilmington, NC, Amy worked as a scientist in the Philadelphia area and traveled internationally and nationally, taking the opportunity to explore art. She studied original illuminated manuscripts of William Blake in the vault of the British Museum and in the Tate Museum in London.